TRAIN - BUS - METRO - TAXI

Rome is connected by a network of public transport including buses, trams and metro lines. Tickets (valid for all forms of public transport including some local train journeys such as the trip between Rome and Muratella) must be purchased in advance, are valid for 75 minutes and cost 1.50 euro. They are available in all metro stations, tobacco shops and newsagents as well as from machines located at major bus stops.

To calculate the easiest transportation route from any location in Rome, to WFP, you can consult the ATAC public transport website.

Metro

The closest metro station to WFP is Magliana on the Metro B blue line. From the station there is a free shuttle bus service in the morning from 07:25 to 09:10 and in the afternoon from 16:30 to 19:00.

Metro station: Eur Magliana - WFP - Eur Magliana

WFP is among a number of organisations located inside Parco de' Medici that have arranged a common shuttle bus service to Metro Magliana and the EUR district of Rome. The bus has 25 or 50 seats and runs every working day EUR-WFP from 07:25 to 09:10, and WFP-EUR from 16:30 to 19:00.

Stop details:

The pick-up point is on the street above the Eur Magliana metro station. To reach the bus: Exit the station, cross the parking lot and look for pedestrian tunnel. Walk through the tunnel. After climbing stairs at the other end, walk straight ahead about 20 metres. No sign marks the stop, but wait on the sidewalk. Numerous commuter buses stop here, so you will see others waiting – but only the bus marked SARACINI takes you to WFP. The ride is 12-15 mins.

For the evening ride back to the Eur Magliana metro station: Exit WFP's main security gate, turn right, walk about 50 metres to the traffic circle, where the bus will stop.
